

Report of IMS LECTURE by Dr. John McBride held on 6th March 2019

on

"Research on Regional Monsoons"

By

Dr. John McBride

Emeritus positions at Bureau of Meteorology, Australia and University of Melbourne

held on 06 March, 2019 at 0400 PM at DGM Conference Room, Mausam
Bhawan, Lodhi Road, New Delhi 110003

A Brief Resume of Dr. John McBride

Currently retired– hold emeritus positions at Bureau of Meteorology Australia and University of Melbourne

Career at Bureau of Meteorology Melbourne, 1969 – 2011, specializing in research.

Also have held positions at University of Free Berlin, Germany, and at Meteorological Service Singapore.

Undergraduate training – M.Sc Physics University of Melbourne 1973.

Post Graduate – PhD in Atmospheric Science, Colorado State University USA 1979

Also have held positions at University of Free Berlin, Germany, and at Meteorological Service Singapore.

Major positions held

Australia: Leader for Bureau of Meteorology Climate Forecasting Research 2005-2007.

Leader for Bureau of Meteorology and CSIRO Weather and Environmental Prediction Research 2007-2009.

WMO: 2000 – 2007: Chair of the WMO CAS Steering Committee for Project M2: Long-term Asian/African Monsoon Studies.

2000 - 2017 Leader of WMO-CAS Committee on Climate Change Impacts on Tropical Cyclones, and then Co-Chair of WMO Expert team on Climate Change Impacts on Tropical Cyclones.

Research Interests: Monsoon Meteorology, Tropical Cyclones, Impact of Climate Change on Tropical Cyclones, Precipitation Verification, Tropical Convection, El Nino Southern Oscillation.

A slide on Regional Monsoons shown by Dr John McBride

Dr. John delivering Lecture

A view of esteemed audience listening to Dr. John's Lecture

Dr. John McBride, Emeritus positions at Bureau of Meteorology, Australia and University of Melbourne was felicitated by an IMS Memento by Prof. S.K. Dash, President, IMS